Full Stack Developer | Pine Technologies | Remote Aug 2024 – Present

Project: Global CMS & Content API Platform Jul 2026 – Present

- Develop features for a long-running PHP/MySQL CMS and REST APIs serving a public website and native mobile app across multiple countries and languages (Docker-based environments).
- Built page-level permissions scoped by content type, organisation and geography (region → country → area), reusing the existing access model.
- Delivered a new block-based content type by reusing the existing page builder, with translations inheriting layout from the live master version.
- Extend mobile app APIs for content, announcements and fitness challenge leaderboards and stats.
- Work across publishing, translation workflows, Typesense search indexing and caching in a live production system.

Project: ResearchCollab – AI Research Platform & Browser Extension (UAE client, in production) Sep 2024 – Dec 2025

- Built AI features for a production research platform (Next.js, Node.js/Express, PostgreSQL/Supabase, Docker) using OpenAI GPT-4o-mini and Google Gemini 2.0/2.5, including paper analysis that turns uploaded PDFs into metadata, summaries and insights.
- Built a Deep Research assistant that generates long-form research reports with Gemini 2.5 Pro, with saved history per user.
- Built AI reference auto-import: extracts citations from text, finds papers via Semantic Scholar, Google Scholar and Crossref, and runs on BullMQ/Redis queues with live WebSocket progress.
- Built Topic Explorer (AI news, web search, topic analysis), scheduled daily trend digests, and reusable AI prompt templates users run against their papers.
- Built a cross-browser extension (Chrome, Firefox, Safari; React, Vite, Supabase) that saves Google Scholar papers as AI-processed PDFs, with Google OAuth and 2FA.
- Cut real-time sync times by 50% using Supabase WebSockets.
